1. There are warehouses within the harbor for merchandise (item 4 on sketch), and three electric cranes (with a capacity of 3,000 kilograms) on tracks, (item 5 on sketch).
2. In the basin at the east end of the harbor is a ferryboat which transports passenger and freight cars to Ruse (Bulgaria), (item 23 on sketch). The navy yard is at the northern end of the basin (item 13 on sketch). It is used for new construction as well as for the repair of ships.
3. At approximately 300 meters from the Harbor Administration is the end of the pipeline coming from Ploesti and running under the Danube to Bulgaria.
4. East of the basin, on the Danube bank, is the end of the tube which protects the electric cable to Ruse underneath the Danube. This cable carries slightly under 60,000 volts. The electricity comes from the power plant at Grozavesti (Bucharest) and the route is through the villages of Jilava, Calugareni, and the city of Giurgiu.
5. Another outlet of the pipeline from Ploesti supplies a group of approximately 15 large oil tanks (item 17 on sketch). These tanks form the oil station of Ciocoiu. The station is provided with pumps, pipelines and apparatus for loading the oil tanks.
6. Loadings: Oil, approximately 200 cars daily. Cereals, approximately 1,500 cars per year. Wood, 50 cars daily.

Unloadings: Coal, approximately 50 cars per week. Pipes, 100 cars per year.
